

Color ME

RATS AND MICE make great pets. They quickly learn to recognize their owner and will come running out to visit when they see you.

Always be gentle when holding your rat or mouse. Our furry friends don't like to be squeezed, poked, or dropped. They are very little and can get scared.

Mice are very friendly. Once they get used to you they will happily sit on your hand to be petted. They also love to ride around in big pockets (be careful, don't squish them).

Rats are very smart. Some people have taught them tricks like coming to their name and walking on a tight rope. There are even rats that play basketball!

Rats love to snuggle and be petted. Some even give kisses! Lots of rats like to ride on their owners shoulders. Others prefer pockets or purses.
